

Above - original picture in the book.

I found beautiful doily in Book 3 of the Frivolite series (3 booklets) which were published in 1952 by Eska (a publisher) in Utrecht. A few alterations have been made (particularly to round 9) to make the doily easier to work. Throughout I have used 2 shuttles and have worked with size 20 thread. The finished piece measures 26" by 16" when worked in this size thread.

You will note that I have not put a copyright notice on this as I would rather have referred to the original designer although the translation, text and drawings are mine. I believe in copyright being assigned to the designer but in this case, even through extensive research, all I've gleaned is that the designs in the book series were done by nuns living in a monastery in Amsterdam. As this was such a pretty doily I did not want to let it become lost forever. The text and photograph which were all I had to work from. Many thanks must go to Riet Surtel-Smeulders who gave me the original two books and to Google translate for his help too!!

Above - Tim's Juliana doily worked in size 20 thread.

1 × 3 en 1 × 10 d.kn. verbinden aan kleine ring, boog 1 × 12 d.kn. verbinden aan nieuwe bloem. Afhechten.

Nieuwe bloem, boog 1 × 12 d.kn., ring 2 × 3 d.kn., verbinden aan vorige kleine ring, boog 2 × 12 d.kn. verbinden met vorige toer en aan kleine ring, ring 2 × 3 d.kn., boog 1 × 12 d.kn. Afhechten.

Nieuwe bloem, boog 1 × 12 d.kn. verbinden aan kl. ring, ring 2 × 3 d.kn., boog 1 × 10 en 1 × 3 d.kn. verbinden met vorige toer, boog 1 × 12 d.kn. verbinden aan kleine ring, boog 1 × 12 d.kn. verbinden aan nieuwe bloem, deze bloem verbinden aan de vorige toer. Afhechten.

Above - sample of the text I was working from.